Future Care Cost Assessments:

Everything you ever wanted to know

Have you been hearing a lot about Future Care Cost Assessments lately, but still have a lot of unanswered questions? This information should help clarify what it is and when to use it. We have also included the attached “Future Care Cost Assessments: Frequently Asked Questions” sheet to ensure you have all the answers you need!

What is it?

A Future Care Cost Assessment (FCC) is a comprehensive report that assesses a disabled person’s needs over the course of their lives, as a result of an illness or injury, and outlines the reasonable and necessary costs associated with these needs.

Why use it?

Because it cannot be assumed that friends and/or family will continue indefinitely to provide ongoing care, a Future Care Cost Assessment is an extremely effective way to assess what a disabled person’s future care costs will be. It is an invaluable tool for reserve setting and budgeting for medical and rehabilitation expenses, as well as for structuring a settlement.

When should you refer a Future Care Cost Assessment?... see the attached sheet for the answer to this question and many more!
